

Investec Managed Currency Fund

As at end May 2009

Summary of investment objective

The Fund aims to protect and increase the international purchasing power of shareholders' liquid assets through the management and diversification of currency exposure.

Fund overview

The Managed Currency Fund is designed to be an all-weather fund. It aims to make absolute returns even in tough market conditions by exploiting the fact that, by definition, all currencies cannot be in simultaneous decline. In addition to profits from currency appreciation, the Fund also seeks to generate returns from its portfolio of low-risk investments. These include deposit accounts, short-term money market investments and, on occasion, bonds.

A currency fund may offer investors the benefit of diversification when held with a portfolio of bond and equity funds, as currencies typically behave differently from bonds and equities. Consequently, incorporating a currency fund can reduce the risk of an investment portfolio. The Managed Currency Fund's exposure to a range of currencies could be particularly valuable to an investor keen to reduce exposure to their domestic currency without taking on the higher risk normally associated with global equities.

The Fund invests conservatively in a basket of currencies that the manager believes will strengthen, due to a changing blend of financial, economic and political reasons. Its investments are spread across a diverse range of currencies with the aim of improving returns and controlling risk. The Fund aims to generate better returns than cash regardless of currency though, of course, in seeking to outperform cash, it is also possible to underperform.

Past performance should not be taken as a guide to the future and there is no guarantee that this investment will make profits. Returns will vary with market action, fee levels and taxes and in certain market conditions losses may be exaggerated. Please be aware that if the charges and expenses of the Fund are greater than the yield on the underlying investments, then the excess will be charged to the capital of the Fund. This would lead to capital erosion. Please see over for performance data and other sources.
